DAY 1

Vancouver to Tweedsmuir Park Lodge

Fly from Vancouver (south terminal) on a scheduled morning flight with Pacific Coastal Airlines. On arrival you will be met and transferred (45-minute drive) to the lodge. After check-in enjoy lunch and then set up for a late afternoon drift on the Atnarko River, meandering between massive snowcapped peaks, to look for grizzly bears. Relax and enjoy the scenery, and watch for wildlife such as river otters and black bears. You may also see bald eagles and grizzly bears dining on the river's salmon. Lunch and dinner are included.

DAY 2

Tweedsmuir Park Lodge

Wake up early and wander down to the wildlife viewing station as first thing in the morning is a great time to spot bears. The raised structure provides open lines of sight both up and down the river. After breakfast head out for a guided nature walk in the old growth forest of Tweedsmuir Park. Your guide, a naturalist, will show you how to track the bears and will point out various bear signs including rubbed trees with claw and bite marks, and bear day beds. A picnic lunch will be served, then continue exploring the park with a drive on the Tote Roads. At the end of the road there is a short, highly recommended hike to Stillwater Lake. Breakfast, lunch and dinner are included.
