

Australia boasts some truly remarkable and indeed unique wildlife and no visit is complete without some form of wildlife encounter. From birdwatching and crocodile-spotting in the Kakadu National Park, to swimming with whale sharks on Ningaloo Reef, walking amongst sealions and finding koalas lazing in trees on Kangaroo Island. You could even head out on a dusk patrol in Tasmania to seek out the elusive Tasmanian Devil. Here, though, this small group wildlife safari departs from Melbourne and explores East Gippsland, a coastal wilderness famed for its forest wildlife.

You'll see some of the shy forest dwellers including koalas, wombats, swamp wallabies and a wonderful array of birdlife. Along the coast you'll find white-bellied sea eagles, Australian fur seals, pelicans and cormorants plus much more. For those in search of Australia's iconic wildlife Eastern grey kangaroos and red-necked wallabies are frequent inhabitants of this region too.

On the third day of this safari there is the opportunity to assist with the removal of ghost net from the beach at Cape Conran or a beach clean-up. You'll travel with a highly experienced naturalist guide and spend 3 nights in comfortable owner-operated accommodation.
