Day 2 Cook & The Nullabor

You will wake this morning to a vast horizon as The Indian Pacific makes its way across the sweeping Nullabor Plain, where the stillness of the desert is disturbed only by the occasional mob of friendly kangaroos or birds circling high in the blue skies above. After breakfast the train makes a short stop in Cook, with a population of just four! Back on board, you continue your journey on Australia's longest single stretch of railway, through The Nullabor – which gets its name from the Latin meaning 'no trees'. There is something quite majestic about the sense of limitless time and space here. All meals are enjoyed on board today.
