

A school trip to Paris and Disneyland has always been the go-to destination for a cross curricular school tour. Along with fantastic cultural visits to iconic landmarks, Paris is home to a range of museums satisfying Science and Design Technology students alike.

At the City of Sciences and Industry your group can explore the permanent exhibitions dedicated to mathematics and probability, the brain, the universe, and genes. Make this a cross-curricular trip with Fashion and Textiles students and allow your group to discover how the fashion industry works in one of the fashion capitals of the world.

Reward the group on the final day with the g-force, twists and turns of the rides at Disneyland Paris.
